Long Sault celebrated Canada Day in style

LONG SAULT – The rain caused the traditional July 1 Canada Day celebrations in South Stormont to be re-scheduled to July 2, but that didn't stop hundreds of people from converging on the events held at the Lost Villages Museum grounds in Ault Park or Arnold Bethune Memorial Park in Long Sault.

Carson Elliott and his army of community volunteers brought a full day of family-oriented activities, including displays, a silent auction, a full slate of entertainers accompanied by strawberry shortcake and barbecued hot dogs and hamburgers.

AVONMORE – On Sun., July 9, Avonmore Berry Farm and Kennmatten Farm banded together to host the first-ever Strawberry Sunday/e event. Inspired by the Breakfast on the Farm event held at Stanlee Farms in 2014, Strawberry Sunday/e opened the doors of two farms to the public to enjoy local Ontario products and learn more about Canadian Agriculture.

Stanlee Farms owner Jim Wert began planning the event but gives the majority of the credit for the event's success to Avonmore Berry Farm owners David and Pamela Phillips and Kennmatten Farm owners Thomas and Katherin Speck.

Meet Me on Main Street in Morewood

Following the introduction of the recent local Canada 150 Medallion winners and announcement of this year's Community Builder Award recipient, Bill Smirle, officials and winners gathered for a photo in front of the stage on Main St., July 5. From left are Councillor Tony Fraser, MP Guy Lauzon, Councillors John Thompson and Allan Armstrong, Mayor Eric Duncan, Bill Smirle and wife Nancy Wilson, Maria Cousineau, Joe Cass, Stan and Betty Vanden Bosch, and Deputy Mayor Gerry Boyce. MOREWOOD – The event that was inspired by Ottawa's upcoming event, Canada's Table, a 1,000 person open-air table dining experience on Wellington Street to celebrate Canada 150, was just as exciting last week on Wed., July 5, from 5:30 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.

North Dundas' first Meet Me on Main Street in Morewood was a great success to celebrate Canada 150, with a welcoming giant Canadian flag draped in front of the monument on Main St. that provided a decorative backdrop to the main stage. Local residents (some of whom had moved away and returned for the evening) joined other friends and neighbours to enjoy Canadian-themed food such as poutine, beef on a bun and other tails, from Winchelsea Events of Winchester and Snack Shack of Chesterville. So popular were the eats that a few patrons had to wait for more food to be brought in, or if they arrived late to settle for just poutine!

The Township of North Dundas Councillors and Mayor Eric Duncan, as well as MP Guy Lauzon and MPP Jim McDonnell, were on hand to socialize and enjoy the evening as well. The entertainment by locals Hillbilly Highway with their down-home country and rock music was enjoyed by all, as was the popular cash bar, refreshments, and the convenience of tables set up down the middle of the closed-off streets of Moffat (County Rd. 7) and Main St. (County Rd. 13).

Also on site were Township of North Dundas firefighters with a booth set up for educational and other items for the kids and adults. Kemptville's Southgate Community Church volunteers and pastors were on hand to help with kids at the giant bouncy structure loaned from their organization. The Church will be soon opening a satellite branch at Winchester's New Hope Church (formerly the Wesleyan Church) which has gifted the building to the United Pentecostal Church.

Long Sault Canada Day

During the official opening ceremonies, SDSG MP Guy Lauzon commented, "What a wonderful country we live in," – a sentiment certainly shared by all present. South Stormont Mayor Jim Bancroft welcomed people to the Canada Day celebration, expressing gratitude for living in a country where people can live in peace and harmony. Lost Villages Historical Society President Jim Brownell thanked the municipality of South Stormont for their great support and Carson Elliott who with his committee of volunteers who put together such a wonderful event each year. Brownell announced the opening of the "Alan Rafuse Seaway Corner" in honour of long-time LVHS member Alan Rafuse.

Across town at the Arnold Bethune Park, there were family-oriented activities on July 2 which included cooling off in the wading pool or splash pad and having some fun in the bouncy castles on site or enjoying a bite to eat at the community barbecue. As was the case in many communities across the country, a fireworks display was planned to finish off the Canada Day 150 activities.

Mayor Duncan welcomed and thanked all to the event, including sponsors and vendors, and encouraged the audience to stop by and support the Lucky Dollar for dessert, delicious Canadian ice cream. Before long, people soon lined up around the corner to purchase their ice cream cones and word has it that one of the owners' hands was numb from all the scooping of the cold dessert!

One of the highlights of the evening was Duncan's introduction of the recent local Canada 150 Medallion winners: Joe Cass, Stan and Betty Vanden Bosch, Maria Cousineau for the late Claude Cousineau, and Bill Smirle. Following this, Duncan read a list of accomplishments and organizations relating to Morewood resident Bill Smirle and announced that Smirle is the recipient of the 2017 Community Builder's Award, to be officially presented later this year.

For a full list of the next streets scheduled to be closed for Meet Me on Main Street, see the event page on Facebook or visit the North Dundas website under Community Events.

Duncan highlighted the event with a comment on Facebook, "What an awesome night in Morewood for our first of five Meet Me on Main Street parties! We didn't know what to expect, but 300-400+ turned up for Canadian food, beer, music and games. We can't wait for next Thursday (July 13) in South Mountain for Round 2!"

High-flying comedy Boeing Boeing has landed

MORRISBURG – Playhouse audiences are advised to fasten their seatbelts for the funniest flight of their life, as one of the longest running comedies opened on the Morrisburg Upper Canada Playhouse stage July 6.

Marc Camoletti's Boeing Boeing was an instant runaway comic hit when it opened in 1962 at London's Apollo Theatre and played an incredible seven years in Europe, earning it a mention in the Guinness Book of Records. It has continued to enjoy productions all over the world ever since and was later revived in 2009 with an updated new version on London's West End and on Broadway, as well as an American tour to unanimous raves from audiences and critics alike.

Upper Canada Playhouse is excited to treat its audience to this sure fire hit. As with all great farces, Boeing Boeing is fuelled by the chaos created when the lead character makes a serious mistake and desperately tries to correct it by involving everyone around him in a massive and hilarious cover-up.

Bernard is a swinging bachelor who has everything, including a flat in Paris and three gorgeous stewardesses who are all engaged to him. None of them know anything about each other because their flights and layovers are on different schedules. That is until a speedier Boeing jet throws Bernard unexpectedly off his plan by landing all three at his flat at the same time.

Damage control begins as he enlists the help of his innocent friend Robert and wily maid Bertha to keep all three fiancées from seeing each other. What follows is a riotous comedy described by the New York Times as 'nothing but blue skies and mile-high hilarity. A breath of fresh laughing gas' and Journal News as 'a cure for whatever may ail you!'

Playhouse audiences often remark that whatever kind of day they've had, they can forget the cares of the day and leave the theatre with smiles on their faces. It will be impossible not to be swept away by this hysterical romp filled with break-neck comings and goings, physical hijinks and the spectacle of seeing everyday, ordinary people doing ridiculous things as they try to manage a crisis of their own making.

The Playhouse has assembled a stellar team of familiar actors and new talent to execute the physical and verbal antics of this hilarious show. Audience favourites Brian Young, Brenda Quesnel and AnnaMarie Lea all return to light up the Playhouse stage with Young playing the unsuspecting friend Robert, Quesnel the crafty and knowing maid, Bertha, and Lea playing Gloria, an American Airlines stewardess. They are joined by three new faces making their Playhouse debut including Gaelan Beatty as Bernard, Stephanie Folkins as Gretchen and Siobhan Richardson as Gabriella-

German and Italian stewardesses respectively. Liz Gilroy, popular Playhouse actor and choreographer, directs.

Boeing Boeing runs July 6-30 with 2 p.m. shows Tues., Wed., Thurs., Sat. and Sun., and 8 p.m. shows Thurs., Fri., and Sat. Call 613-543-3713 or 1-877-550-3650 or uppercanadaplayhouse.com

Auction brings in nearly $5,000 for House of Lazarus

The second annual House of Lazarus (HOL) Auction brought in nearly $5,000 for the organization, which supports hundreds of local families each month through their food bank and outreach programs. The auction was held in mid June and attended by nearly 100 bargain hunters. Peter Ross Auction Services donated their time to make the event possible and the Knights of Columbus ran a barbecue that brought in nearly $500 for the HOL. Special thanks goes out to Michel and Carol Sabourin who donated drinks and manned the barbecue and to Peter and Helen Ross who ran the auction. Courtesy photo

A thank you to all

The Editor:

We would like to sincerely thank Mayor Eric Duncan and his Councillors for their wonderful idea, planning, organization and follow-through on their "Canada 150 Celebration in North Dundas." The first event in Morewood on Wednesday evening July 5th was outstanding! From the closed street, the band, the food, the gift draws, the tables and chairs, the decorations, and the wonderful weather! Morewood and area residents responded and it was great to see people from throughout the Township in attendance. It was also great to see our MP Guy Lauzon and his wife Frances in attendance – Guy always seems to find time in his busy schedule to participate in events throughout his Constituency.

Again, thanks to our Council, the township staff, all who assisted, and especially the Morewood residents for making this a very memorable evening.

Upcoming Avonmore Fair highlights fun

AVONMORE – The 157th annual Avonmore Fair is set for July 21, 22 and 23 with the opening on Friday evening with some newly added events. The resurrected Stormont & Glengary Junior Farmers will be hosting a Junior Farmers Olympics with various age categories competing in a multitude of challenges. In addition to these physical competitions, some big muscle power will be displayed with a new tug-of-war contest. Travelling teams and local groups will be suitably pitted against each other in this age-old sport.

Friday night also welcomes back the biggest little party band in Ontario, with Ambush centre-staging the huge Superstructure Barn Dance! Weekend music also includes Country Roads, Rev & The Choir Boys, and the popular up-and-coming band The County Lads.

The sky will be the spot to look to during the Fair weekend for some high-flying acrobatic stunts, as the Quebec-based Aerial Animation Flying Trapeze Show performs two times each day! Large rigging will be set up to support the "girls on the flying trapeze" with up to five performers in the air at one time. With Cirque de Soleil being the premier world renown show for aerial acts, Quebec is a training ground for many performers. This group's base is such a school and Avonmore Fair will be one of the very first stops on their western show route.

Saturday sees for many the start of the 4-H calf show circuit with the largest open calf rally in Eastern Ontario running all day. The 4-H beef calf show runs Sunday. The sand ring will have Western Gaming and Performance horse shows all weekend along with the Exhibition Hall, which will display everything from children's artwork, flower arrangements and field crops, to photography and baking.

Free activities also abound both days: a huge rock climbing wall for all ages, an ever-expanding agricultural and environmental education area including The Travellin' Farmer and The River Institute among many displays, professional face painting and balloon tying, The Pedal Tractor Fun Zone, two talent shows and other contests with cash prizes for competitors. Sunday is also Cotton Candy Day with treats for a number of first-arriving children who may want to participate in the second annual Super Hero Kids Run providing free costume accessories to the young participants!

In honour of Canada's 150th and as a salute to agriculture in our area, the Farm Proud Tractor Parade will run Sunday. The parade will start at Tagwi Secondary School at 11:00 a.m. and conclude on the fairgrounds approximately at noon where spectator seating is provided. Antique to modern tractors are invited to participate. Decorations celebrating Canada are encouraged but are not a requirement. Registration for the parade and for many of the Fair contests can be found at avonmorefair.ca.

150 parade celebrates evolution of agriculture

As usual, Navan's Wyatt McWilliams doesn't want any credit for his latest successful agriculture-based event, a community boosting parade.

Local farmer McWilliams was the chief organizer of Parade Through Time, a Canada 150 celebration which took place in and around the rural Ottawa hamlet June 17.

Some of his other projects include Hay West and Hay East, as well as Food Aid Day every June at Ottawa City Hall.

McWilliams described the parade as a "moving evolution" of farm equipment and other vehicles over the past century and a half. Adding to the festivities were a street dance and barbecue primarily pulled together by general store owner John Bradley. Admission to all of it was free.

With 90 entries most of which were tractors and other farm equipment, the parade took about an hour to pass any given point. The viewing stand was manned by retired auctioneer Carson Hill and broadcaster Rob Snow.

Several of the entries were horse-drawn, including the single team-drawn wagon that 22 years ago was the centre piece of Navan's famous 50-horse hitch. Once again, the driver was Wyatt's father Willard McWilliams.

For the record, organizers decided to video the parade from 150 feet up using technology that's become commonplace in farm field scouting... a drone.

They hired Mathieu Bruyere of Up N' Above aerial cinematography and his DJI Phantom 2 drone; while Bruyere has handled plenty of field surveys, weddings and random events, darting over a parade in town for the first time brought a particular piloting approach. McWilliams was quick to hand off credit to his 20-member organizing committee. However, member Phil Muggleton emphasized it was McWilliams who had the "clear vision" needed to pull off the project... ironic, in a way, when you consider that he's gradually losing his eyesight to a degenerative disease.

"I've heard many very positive comments about the parade ranging from the variety of the entries to how well organized it was," Muggleton stated. "Wyatt, you are an inspiration and a role model."

One large wrench was tossed into the spokes of Parade Through Time... but organizers didn't allow it to grind to a halt.

A few days earlier, they learned that their honorary parade marshal Paddy Pryle passed away suddenly on route to Navan, Ont., from Navan, Ireland. Pryle died in St. John's where he had stopped for a short visit.

The two communities were twinned in 2012 and Pryle, a 53-year-old driving instructor and father of four children, had made several trips to the Ontario Navan, including to the annual fair with 40 of his countrymen and women. Several local Navan residents have reciprocated.

"We turned the street dance at the fairgrounds into an Irish wake and raised a toast to Paddy," McWilliams said.

Glen Edwards, who helped coordinate the agricultural entries, said interest in the event continued to grow and farmers enquired up to the last minute if they could bring their tractors and other machines.

"In those cases, we were successful in getting some items we didn't already have in the parade," said Edwards, a John Deere collector who entered several green pieces.

With plans to visit Navan, Ireland, for his upcoming 25th wedding anniversary, McWilliams said the main point of the parade was to celebrate community spirit, Canadian spirit, and agricultural spirit over the past 150 years.

Ontario-Canadian proud

Carolyn Thompson Goddard
Record Correspondent

It is hard to believe it has been 50 years since Canada's Confederation was celebrated. I suppose it was a very exciting year what with Expo 67, Centennial celebrations and dances, as well as numerous centennial projects throughout this county, but to be honest my memories are a bit hazy about our country's Centennial.

Most of us older folks will remember Expo 67, the pied piper of Canada leading children singing Ca-na-da, stories of a giant birthday cake on Parliament Hill but my most vivid memories are of those with personal connections. I recall visiting Expo 67, riding the monorail, getting lost for a long time in the U.S.S.R. pavilion and never getting to LaRonde, but it was the celebrations locally that come to mind most of all when thinking about Centennial Year.

There are a few Centennial dresses still hanging around in closets or perhaps local museums, but in 1967 they were everywhere and I think most gals, regardless of their age, had at least one. Mine was a made with cotton material with flowers and it wasn't worn too often, maybe three or four times with one of them being when my class danced the Maypole Dance for some performance or other. It isn't difficult for me to see in my mind's eye a group of young gals dancing around with ribbons in our hands, trying to keep in step while weaving those ribbons around a pole held by someone (perhaps who had misbehaved in class) on the tarmac at Chesterville Public School. I am certain Mrs. Cole must have had quite the time teaching us the intricate steps of the ancient English folk dance and I am equally certain we probably tested the limits of her patience during those lessons!

While the dress didn't see much wear, it was a very important personal keepsake of that special year and is now housed at the Heritage Centre in Chesterville along with several other local Centennial dresses. One of the last times I saw Mom wearing it was one Hallowe'en night in the 1970s when she and Mrs. McNab wore their Centennial dresses as costumes while making sure children were safely trick or treating on Hallowe'en. I don't know where it is now, but I sure wished it was hanging in my closet so I could wear it during the Canada 150 celebrations!

There was of course a multitude of Centennial projects in local municipalities. In Chesterville, the pool was one such a project and since then has been providing a few generations with seasonal enjoyment. I recall taking swimming lessons there, enjoying splashing around in the shallow end and seeing teenaged neighbours working as lifeguards. After awhile I could swim well enough to be allowed in the deep end and eventually got brave enough to jump off the diving board but as for doing a cannonball – well it was fun watching people making a big splash – but you wouldn't catch me doing that!

There are many celebrations planned throughout SDG to mark the sesquicentennial of Canada as a country, but it is also important to remember how 150 years ago the provinces of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were created. My humming of Ca-na-da is occasionally replaced by singing Give Us A Place to Stand because not only am I a proud Canadian – I am also a proud Ontarian living where this province got its start – SDG!

LONG SAULT – During the official opening of the Canada Day celebrations held on July 2 at the Lost Villages Museum in Ault Park, Lost Villages Historical Society President Jim Brownell announced the opening of the Alan Rafuse Seaway Corner located in the Stuart House.

Rafuse, retired mariner and long-time member of the LVHS, had collected a large collection of maps, books, charts, artifacts and historical papers pertaining to the St. Lawrence River and, according to Brownell, wished to see his collection housed at the museum site.

Brownell commented how renovations to the basement of the Stuart House permitted the creation of a suitable location to house this significant collection which will be “open to the public daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.” or by appointment. Brownell said assistance is available from summer student employees Lindsey Levasseur and Gardner Sage as well as mentioning that he or Rafuse are often onsite.

The Stuart House is one of 10 heritage buildings which have been relocated from numerous sites including the Lost Villages of Eastern Ontario which house displays and exhibits from local history, as well as providing a number of historically important archival materials for research purposes.

MORRISBURG – The rainy weather on July 1 cleared in time for the opening night of Eve of Confederation held at Upper Canada Village.

Eve of Confederation follows the romance of three characters and is set in pre-Confederation Canada West with portions of Upper Canada Village itself serving as the set of the action.

Characterized as “immersive theatre” by Jancis Sommerville, Special Events, Promotions and Sponsorship Officer at St. Lawrence Parks Commission, the audience is drawn into the production by cast members who are professional actors from Bottletree Productions of Kingston, Ont.

There are spaces for 100 spectators at each performance and after being divided in family groupings for the event they are led throughout the outdoor set by Fiddler Elias Cooke, portrayed by Julian Whittan. Throughout the evening different aspects of pre-Confederation life in a small town are portrayed. Sommerville explained the historically accurate script was developed using resources such as diaries, weather reports and other materials available to researchers.

Eve of Confederation runs on Saturday evenings between July 1 and August 19, with the play beginning at 6:30 p.m. and usually finishing around 8 p.m., rain or shine. The production is sponsored by Stormont-Dundas-Glenarry Tourism and Pommier Jewellers with a grant provided by an Ontario 150 program. While it goes ahead weather permitting, those attending are urged to bring raincoats or umbrellas if warranted.

Katherin Speck explained the theme was developed as they, “wanted something less complicated and costly [than the Breakfast on the Farm] but still exciting.” Partnering with Avonmore Berry Farm meant visitors had the opportunity to not just experience where their dairy products come from but also local produce.

The event is all about education and connecting with the non-agricultural community to promote local products and understanding average farming practices. “We want people to see that we are good to our animals. We treat them well, they are happy and have a clean home. We’d like to demolish the negativity that surrounds the dairy industry,” said Speck.

The transparency offered by the Specks was well received. Thomas and Katherin were both eager and willing to answer any and all questions that the visitors had during the day. Katherin Speck explained that it was important to realize that Kennmatten is not an anomaly of the dairy industry but their practice is an “average Canadian dairy farm.”

Visitors Karen Westcott and husband Paul Lacoursiere live in Finch and pass Kennmatten Farm daily. They saw the signs advertising the event and were eager to attend. They were accompanied by Lacoursiere’s sister, Michele Barter and her family from Alberta. “There can sometimes be bad press [surrounding agriculture]. Most people want to know that things are being done ethically and educating people on the treatment of animals is important,” said Westcott. She continued that the event encourages the use of local products and is therefore a “win/win for the community.”

While Kennmatten Farm provided Ontario milk and curds for the guests, the actual strawberry sundaes were on sale at Avonmore Berry Farm just a short drive away. The berries were provided by the farm while the ice cream was the Kawartha brand, an Ontario favourite. Wert estimated 1,500 plus people attended the event and enjoyed the day. “It’s a great opportunity to actually talk to farmers. We focused our attention on urban concentration and held campaigns in Ottawa and Cornwall to promote the event,” said Wert.

Avonmore Berry Farm had live music from the McDonald Brothers and some highland dance exhibitions. This was combined with an optional walking tour to seven stations set up throughout the farm’s crops. David Phillips explained that it was a surprise for visitors to realize just how many different crops the farm produces. The tour also gave attendees the chance to have a more hands-on experience with the crops.

The Phillips’ are regularly involved in educational events, holding the Farm to Table series which had three dinners in 2016 and will host another three this summer. “We want people to know how their food is grown. It’s all about education,” explained Phillips.

Admission was free but sundaes were free only to children under 12, with a minimal cost of $5 for others. Approximately 650 sundaes were sold and money raised will go to the Stormont and Glengarry 4-H Clubs and Junior Farmers. The event was a great success and a good step in the right direction for bridging the gap between agriculture producers and their consumers. It was all possible because of the many volunteers from the local agricultural groups, as well as the commitment to education and willingness from the farms involved.

If distributions paid by the fund are greater than the performance of the fund, distributions paid may include a return of capital and an investor's original investment will shrink. Yellow 2 Black 1

In the first game of the evening in the Chesterville Women's Ball Hockey League at the Chesterville Arena on Thurs., July 6, Yellow welcomed Black. Yellow went into the game in second place, five points behind the first-place Blue team and just two points ahead of Red in third. Black sat alone in the basement with just four points.

Yellow was the first to hit the score sheet as Jenny Wright snapped one home from Stephanie Shane to take a 1-0 lead. Neither team could capitalize before the end of the opening frame as Yellow took the 1-0 lead into the second period.

Yellow made it 2-0 when Patti Hall blasted one to the back of the cage from Angie VanGurp-Helmer at 11:33 of the second period. Black got one back at 14:16 as Amy Bekkers slapped one home from Dayna Bekkers to make it 2-1.

Yellow took the 2-1 lead into the third period. Yellow's defence came up big in the third period as well as some good goaltending by Cashelle Baldwin held Black off the board taking the game 2-1 and moving to within three points of Blue for first place. Baldwin picked up the win in Yellow's goal.

Red 4 Blue 1

In the second game of the night Red played host to Blue. Blue went into the game in first place with 16 points on eight wins. Red entered the game with nine points with four wins and a tie but in their last meeting Blue took the game with a 5-1 victory.

WINCHESTER — The Winchester Peewee Red Sox rescheduled the ROSA championship game but were the visitors on Tuesday night against Gloucester. The Red Sox reached the final after a scare in the opening game of the playoffs from Greely #1 with a 17-11 loss but they battled back to take their second round-robin game 15-8 against Vars in the season championship tournament, which was held in Williamsburg the weekend of June 23-25.

The Sox then took out the Kenmore #1 Heat in the quarterfinal and beat the team that beat them in the opener, Greely #1, with a slim 9-8 victory to move on to the final game. Just before their game was about to start the clouds opened up and the game had to be rescheduled to Tuesday night.

Red Sox 20 Gloucester 9

The Winchester Peewee Red Sox were a rare visiting team at home on Tues., July 4, as Gloucester played the host at the 100 Club Ball Park of the ROSA Championship game.

The Sox opened the game with a two-run lead in the top of the first inning. The Sox' defence got them through the top of the first allowing three runners on base but after the sixth batter neither of the runs scored. The Sox' bats heated up in the top of the second scoring four runs on just five batters taking a 6-0 lead.

Gloucester broke the goose egg in the bottom of the second but scored just a single run. The Sox' bats remained hot in the top of the third inning scoring the maximum four runs allowed making it 10-1.

Gloucester got back into the game in the bottom of the third scoring four runs after getting six batters to the plate to cut the Sox' lead in half. Unfazed by Gloucester's offence, the Sox pounded another four runners around the bags taking a 14-5 lead in the top of the fourth inning.

Gloucester refused to give in scoring another four runs to cut the deficit to five again. The relentless Sox' attack proved to be too much for Gloucester to handle, as the Sox scored four more runs in the top of the fifth inning. The Sox' defence did their job in the bottom of the fifth allowing only three batters to the dish taking an 18-8 lead into the sixth inning.

The Sox scored two in the top of the sixth but left the bases juiced. Gloucester ran into a wall in the bottom of the inning and managed to score a single run but it wasn't enough as the Sox took the game with a convincing 20-9 victory. The Sox took home the ROSA

GLOUCESTER — The Williamsburg Squirts Pioneers travelled to Gloucester on the weekend of July 7-9 for the ROSA Championship Tournament. The Pioneers were not given much thought heading into the tournament after playing only seven regular season games and picked only one win so they were the ultimate underdog.

The Pioneers opened the weekend with a game against the Kenmore Heat and suffered a minor setback dropping the game 13-10 setting up a must-win game in the round robin portion of the tournament.

The Pioneers fell behind early in the game but made the comeback complete in their final at bat to take the game 15-14 in the unlimited run inning. The Pioneers then moved on to the quarterfinal against the Kemptville Wildcats.

This game saw a lot of lead changes and swings back and forth but in the end the Pioneers snuck out a 14-11 victory to move on to the semifinal. In the semifinal, it was against the home team Gloucester.

This time the Pioneers were ready jumping out to an early lead and never relinquishing it with a 14-12 win so they headed to the championship game. The Pioneers faced the team they faced in the first game of the tournament, the Kenmore #2 Heat.

After losing previously to the Heat, the Pioneers trailed early in this game as well but battled back to take a slight lead. The Heat then tied the game in the fourth inning but the Pioneers took over from there scoring nine more runs to take the championship 15-13, capping off a great season full of memories to last a lifetime.

The Pioneers got three back in the top of the second inning after stealing a few bases to cut the deficit to one.

The Pioneers held the Braves to just four batters in the bottom of the second inning, none of which made the round trip. The Pioneers exploded for five runs in the top of the third getting eight batters to the dish taking an 8-4 lead.

The Williamsburg Junior Senior Pioneers welcomed Cornwall #2 to the J. C. Whitteker Ball Park on Wed., July 7, in the Upper Canada Little League.
