Green Ontario Fund offering rebates for energy-efficient renovations

TORONTO - In a Dec. 13 news release, the Ministry of the Environment and Climate Change announced a rebate program to help families save money and fight climate change at home.

Ontario families can now access rebates to complete low-carbon, energy-efficient renovations to their homes through a new program from the Green Ontario Fund, a nonprofit provincial agency funded by proceeds from the province's cap on pollution and carbon market.

"No matter where you live work in Ontario, fighting climate change can be as easy as changing a light bulb, switching your thermostat or making other home improvements that cut your energy bills. Knowing that so many of our daily choices and actions at home contribute to greenhouse gas pollution, a program like GreenON Rebates will make it easy and more affordable for people to fight climate change by choosing low-carbon ways to improve their homes," stated Chris Ballard, Minister of the Environment and Climate Change, in the release.

New GreenON Rebates will cover up to $7,200 off new insulation and a $100 rebate for air sealing; up to $20,000 to install ENERGY STAR-certified ground source heat pumps (home geothermal) or up to $4,500 to repair existing heat pump systems; up to $5,800 off air source heat pumps that are ENERGY STAR-certified or meet program requirements; and up to $5,000 for replacement windows that meet program requirements.

In addition to the renovation rebates, homeowners and tenants can access a $100 smart thermostat rebate through a partnership with Save on Energy.

Parminder Sandhu, Chair of the Green Ontario Fund Board of Directors, added, "Now, through GreenON Rebates, we are empowering consumers to help fight climate change by reducing energy usage at home. GreenON Rebates enables Ontario homeowners and tenants to access rebates on home renovations that will save them money and reduce their carbon footprint.'

The province is also launching GreenON Support, a free over-the-phone service offering impartial advice from energy experts to help consumers learn how they can save money and reduce their carbon footprint through home upgrades.

Making it easier and more affordable for people to fight climate change at home is part of Ontario's plan to create fairness and opportunity during this period of rapid economic change. The plan includes a higher minimum wage and better working conditions, free tuition for hundreds of thousands of students, easier access to affordable child care, and free prescription drugs for everyone under 25 through the biggest expansion of medicare in a generation.

Quick Facts

• Buildings generate almost a quarter of Ontario's greenhouse gas emissions.

• The Green Ontario Fund takes consumer protection seriously. No agents will come to your door without your consent. The agency requires residents taking advantage of rebates to work with a qualified and screened contractor listed on GreenON.ca. Contractors across Ontario interested in participating in the program are invited to sign up at GreenON.ca/contractor-signup.

• Contractors participating in the program must satisfy established criteria and complete training for specific lowcarbon renovations.

• The Green Ontario Fund is a key pillar in the province's Climate Change Action Plan and is funded entirely by proceeds from the carbon market.

• The rebate program builds on the success of the Green Ontario Fund's first program, GreenON Installations, which offers a smart thermostat with installation and in-home energy review at no-cost. This program is temporarily closed to new applicants while the current orders of smart thermostats are being installed. Applications will re-open in 2018. (Sign up for Green Ontario Fund alerts to get the latest information on all programs.)

• The Climate Change Action Plan and carbon market form the backbone of Ontario's strategy to cut greenhouse gas pollution to 15 per cent below 1990 levels by 2020, 37 per cent Christmas ball tells a story and the annual Wish Tree Lighting Ceremony provides an opportunity to celebrate each one. The event was held in the Winchester District Memorial Hospital lobby on Dec. 12.

The Christmas Wish Tree program provides an opportunity to make a donation in memory, or in honour, of someone near and dear to your heart. "The simple act of writing your loved one's name down on a piece of paper, can be overwhelming. You want to use your best penmanship and be sure that it's just perfect. In that 10 seconds it takes to write out that name, memories might come flooding back, a faint smile might cross your face and you might feel happy because it happened or sad because it's over," explained Foundation Managing Director Kristen Casselman at the event. "Your love, memories and commitment are what make this program special and successful. Thank you."

This year, the program has extra special meaning, as it has been renamed "The Judy Lannin Christmas Wish Tree." Judy Lannin, a kindhearted and determined WDMH team member, started the program 20 years ago. A granite memorial stone was unveiled in her honour, to be placed at the foot of the tree in the roundabout at the front of the hospital.

Judy's family attended the event and noted that staff at WDMH were Judy's second family. "They worked together - not for her, but with her. She knew everyone. She knew their families and she took an interest in their lives," noted husband Brian Lannin.

Judy's daughter Andrea spoke of her generosity. "She always instilled the gift of giving. That was important to her. Not necessarily the giving of material items, but giving of yourself."

The Seaway Valley Singers were so enthusiastic to sing O Christmas Tree, among other carols. Unfortunately, due to weather, the students from Morrisburg Public School were unable to attend, but they're sending their 200 empathy cards to the hospital next week to be distributed to patients.

Another highlight of the evening was having Gaye Benoit, of Crysler, and her three children in attendance. Gaye wrote the Wish Tree direct mail letter this year, sharing her connection with WDMH since 1955

Afterwards, SDSG MPP Jim McDonell, Cornwall Mayor Leslie O'Shaughnessy and former Warden Jim Bancroft were asked to offer their congratulations. "On behalf of the Province of Ontario and the residents of SDSG, congratulations," said McDonell, who spoke of the Counties' proud history throughout Ontario's growth.

"The City of Cornwall looks forward to working with [Warden McLeod]," Bancroft wrapped up the congratulations insisting, "it has been a wonderful year for me to be part of this community and it is an honour I will always cherish. Good luck [Warden McLeod], I'm really looking forward to working with you again."

Warden McLeod then addressed the audience and thanked many people for their support. "Thank you, MP Guy Lauzon for your guidance over the years, Jim Bancroft for your great work, leadership, friendship and council, and my family for their continued support

In the upcoming year and McLeod's term he spoke of the many issues on the agenda including the improvement of the roadways and bridges which will play a major role in SDG's 2018 year. That four-year project has just been approved by the Counties and $17-million is allocated for roadways and bridges in 2018. On that note, McLeod was proud to announce SDG as one of the only Counties to be debt free and he intends to keep it that way.

A response to the Premier

The Editor:

First off, thanks for taking the time to read my last letter to you and getting back to me. That said, I still have not heard back from Mr. Ballard nor Mr. Thibeault, nor did you answer my two questions.

I acknowledge that my last letter was a tad long and that you may not have had the time to read the whole thing, and as such I am re-asking my two questions and await your response.

1. Given that the timing of the Notice of Posting to the Environmental Registry is completely inappropriate, will you repost the 45-day period to start Jan. 1, 2018?

2. Who is ultimately accountable to the citizens of North Stormont when problems arise during the construction and 20-40 year operational period of the Nation Rise Wind Farm Project? Do we send our bills to the Premier of Ontario, the project developer/owner or to the participating landowners who invited the foreign-owned wind developer into the township in the first place?

While waiting for you to answer my two questions, I spent numerous hours between field and office work reading the thousands of pages of EDPR prepared documentation in the off chance that you will not move the end of Christmas Day deadline to submit comments into the MOECC Registry.

What are my conclusions to date, you may ask?

Well the EDPR prepared documents are generously sprinkled with hundreds if not thousands of promises to the people, birds and bats and the environment of North Stormont.

For example EDPR is promising that each turbine will not kill more than 10 bats and 14 birds per year, they will keep turbine noise within the old (not new) MOECC noise guidelines (we'll hardly hear them like a soft whisper at most) and they will "lightly grade" the areas where the access roads and lay down areas will go in.

There are two problems with this: EDPR seems to have problems "keeping promises" at least to my wife and I. Perhaps others on my distribution list have had better experience. EDPR made one promise to me and another to my wife during the so-called "consultation meetings" with citizens of North Stormont, and sadly they are zero for two in keeping their promises with us.

Your Ministry of Environment and Climate Change (MOECC) does not appear to have the tools, resources, and/or interest to strictly enforce wind turbine companies' promises. The most recent example of this came to light this past week in the Kincardine area where citizens have lodged numerous complaints about noise emanating from the Enbridge Underwood Wind Project. The turbines have been in place since 2007 and given the number of complaints received since the project start up the MOECC and Enbridge decided to perform a noise audit in 2011. Here comes the head-scratcher: we are two weeks away from the end of 2017 and the noise audit is still not completed. The MOECC confirmed that the MOECC and the wind project developer have been going back and forth with each other for over six years and they still can't figure out whether there is a problem or not with noise levels emanating from the turbines. In the meantime, citizens within the project area continue to have their lives disrupted because of the turbines.

The big box wood stove was doing what it could to throw enough heat but you could still feel the chill permeating the old country edifice last Sunday afternoon. Heat rises and it had quite a way to go.

Carolling at

the Kirk

ORIAL

Set along Jellyby Road in Augusta Township, it may look like a church but it was decommissioned several years ago, making it just another multi-purpose building... but with the distinction of possessing a steeple.

And of not being an abandoned derelict, something seen as a welcome contribution by the neighbours who, while they're not sure exactly why the Cunninghams of Russell acquired the building, are pleased that they did so.

The rare sight – especially during the winter – of several cars parked out front made it clear Sunday there was a purpose that day for the former St. James of Jerusalem Church. Inside, much of the pew space was occupied by friends of Ian and Sue Cunningham, proud owners of the twotone brick building for the past three years.

It may have been chilly away from the stove but, led by three musicians including Ian occupying the former altar, guests were warming things up with renditions of favourite Christmas carols. It was the Cunningham's third annual "Carolling at Kirk of St. James" seasonal gathering.

"I need to do some mortaring up on the steeple," Ian said as he ran through a short list of improvements still to be made to his labour of love. I wondered aloud how he was going to get the job done without breaking his neck.

"You can rent a cherry picker and that's how I plan to get at it," he replied, revealing something I didn't know. In my mind, I ran through jobs I could get done over a few days with the help of a cherry picker.

Since the last time I was in the former church which opened with great fanfare on New Year's Day, 1865, Ian has added a sturdy loft from which he can look down from on high upon his congregation... I mean his friends. He's also refitted the ceiling with glorious, old-style silver pressed tin which joins with stained glass windows to give a jaunty look to what is CHESTERVILLE – Spirit week has begun and there is a lot going on at North Dundas. The girls' hockey team played in Chesterville on Dec. 14, because of the snow day on Dec. 12. traditionally a more severe look. Hanging from the ceiling is a distinctly unchurchy collection of mismatched chandeliers acquired on klijiji.

It always surprises me what an almost physical glow carols can create, warmth which starts deep inside and radiates outwards. Yes, a shot or two of brandy can have the same effect but the Cunningham's gathering is deliberately non-alcoholic.

That's in part because they don't want visitors negotiating snowy rural roads with a snoot-full... as they used to say back in the 1860s when St. James opened close to a former stop on the long-defunct Ottawa-Brockville rail line.

I forgot the nonalcoholic part and brought a bottle of wine which I quickly turned into a hostess gift. The carolling libation of choice was hot cider or hot chocolate, handy in washing down a spread of Christmas cookies which carollers snacked on between sets.

Not all guests came from afar. The Oosterhofs, Henry, brother Alex and wives Evelina and Julie, who operate a dairy farm along Jellyby nearby, were on hand, happy to be invited and with nothing but positive comments about repurposing the local landmark.

Henry recalled the many years the building sat empty before it was put up

Correction

Following the Dec. 13 issue of The Record, a reader pointed out – in the story and photo relating to the 1st Williamsburg BPSC Scouts at the Morrisburg parade – that "the 1st Williamsburg BPSC Scouts is not boy Scouts but rather just Scouts, as about half of our kids and leaders are girls."

for sale. He really likes what Ian and Sue have done with the place and hopes to someday acquire a surplus oak pew for his porch. Evelina loves the reproduction pressed tin and is thinking of adding some to the Oosterhof kitchen. Henry sees as a blessing

Henry sees as a blessing the fact newcomers arrived on the road to save the old church and turn it into something useful. Ian has made it clear the building is available for community functions and other public gatherings.

So why, why did this retiring and retired public servant feel the need to acquire his very own church? He isn't religious in an institutional way, he wasn't looking for a mancave and the building is too elegant for that use anyway. He has no plans to live in it, to open a shop, or to host any more than an occasional musical gathering in the space.

He just wanted to own a church, more of an architectural and historic whim than a God-fearing one. Still, come Christmastime, you get a feeling that God is smiling down on what has transpired at His house on Jellyby Road.

This is unconscionable in 2018 Ontario.

Ontario is blessed to have an Auditor General that is absolutely committed to rooting out waste and mismanagement in Ontario. An example of this happened again this past week where Ms. Lysyk dropped another bombshell on the Energy File where she reported that private electricity generators fleeced the rate and taxpayers of Ontario to the tune of some $260-million over the past few years.

The Energy File seems to be in complete and utter disarray.

Again Ms. Wynne I urge you to cancel the Nation Rise Wind Project to avoid further embarrassment to your government and if that is not possible just yet, please allow us to enjoy our Christmas season without the need to continue reading the worthless pile of turbine documents.

I look forward to hearing your answers to my two questions soonest.

Thanks for your time and attention.

Raymond Grady Crysler The girl's volleyball teams will compete today on their home court for the last time before the break.

The Angel tree ended today, and the community brought in so many gifts that the link crew class had to add angels to the tree.

Finch Parade of Lights

Continued from the front County Road 12, and ending at the arena. Finally, following the parade, a second event was hosted at the Arena Hall, a "Santa and Social Time" where families could visit after the parade, warm up, and visit with Santa.

The blistering cold did not keep people away during the parade, as crowds gathered to see the creative displays light up the town. The main group of spectators appeared to congregate at the intersection of Victoria and Front Street, but onlookers were speckled along the path, with many taking advantage of having a house along the parade route, and holding parties on their lawns around bonfires to keep warm.

The parade included a variety of creatively decorated floats and vehicles, including tractors adorned with lights, pick up trucks carrying inflatables figurines, festive wagons, a boat, a horse and carriage, and much to the delight of the children present, a large float carrying their favourite characters from Frozen, Sesame Street, and Paw Patrol. Jim McDonell, MPP for SDSG was present to celebrate, and take part in the parade as well.

There were no bands involved in this parade, but children took it upon themselves to fill the night air with Christmas songs, breaking into a rendition of Santa Claus is Coming to Town, as the parade was nearing its end, and anticipation for St. Nick's arrival was high.

The parade concluded with Santa waving to spectators from a large red sleigh. Police escorts were on hand to block traffic, and guide the parade safely to the arena. Once all of the floats had arrived at the arena, parade participants were eager to get inside, warm up and enjoy some free hot chocolate and goodies. Finch Recreation sponsored the social hour. There was a large turnout at the hall following the parade, including many families with young children excited to meet Santa up close, and others taking the opportunity to socialize with friends and family. Donations were also being accepted all day for the local food bank.

WINCHESTER Members of the Cathedral Girls' Choir under the direction of James Calkin presented a concert at St. Clare's Anglican Church on Sat., Dec. 9.

Entitled "Christmas through the Ages," the concert featured both secular and sacred Christmas music, as well as providing the audience a chance to join the choir in such favourites as It Came Upon The Midnight Clear and Hark! The Herald Angels Sing.

Reverend John Wilcox of St. Clare's said, "We are really blessed to have them come and sing such powerful music to help us focus attention on our journey to the stable."

James Calkin, Director of Music at Christ Church Cathedral in Ottawa, explained the members of the Cathedral Girls' Choir ranged in ages from 8 to 18 and come with the opportunity to present from across the National Capital Region. The only criteria for membership is a desire to sing and be part of the Cathedral Music Ministry.

Calkin said he was "excited to bring the Cathedral Girls' Choir to the southern reaches of the Anglican Diocese of Ottawa" especially at Christmas time. In Memoriam

In loving memory of Peter VanKessel Sr., who passed away December 24, 2016.

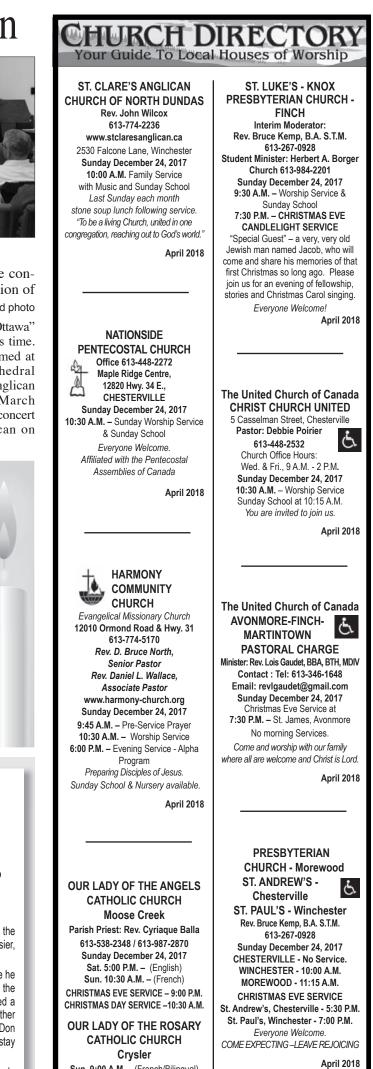

~ Death Notice ~

Don was born on April 6, 1924 in Dodsland, Saskatchewan. He was the third of six children born to parents Stewart and Doris Dewar of Hoosier, Saskatchewan

From his mother, Doris he learned of God's love and at an early age he accepted Jesus as his Lord and Saviour. Don lived and worked on the family farm at Hoosier and during the warmer months he developed a taste for rodeo competition which turned into a passion. Both his father Stewart, and his brother Gordon were involved in rodeo and for Don it grew into a passion that would become his focus and his mainstay financially.

At the age of 21 while competing at a rodeo in the USA he met a cute young waitress at a local care in wolf Point, Montana. It was love al first sight. Soon after, in 1945, Don and Billie (Milinda) were married and travelled across the US and Canada as Don made his living as a professional rodeo cowboy. He received recognition as a 'Pioneer of Rodeo' in 1993 at the Calgary Stampede where he had ridden and won events several years running. Then in 2009 Don, along with sisters Claire and Lois - the first set of three siblings ever, was inducted into the Canadian Pro Rodeo Hall of Fame. After Don retired from competition in 1955 they farmed in Ernfold, Sask. and Enderby, BC. In 1965 they moved their 5 children to Salmon Arm, BC which would be their home for more than 30 years. While there, Don ran a printing shop, a garbage & septic tank service. They raised their children with an abiding sense of the love of the Lord. In 1997 Don & Billie retired to Kamloops, BC. Then, in 2004, they made their last big move to Finch, Ontario to live out their days close to their youngest daughter, Lenae, and husband Murray. Billie left this world and went home to be with her Lord and Saviour on July 6, 2017 to be followed by Don shortly after on November 24, 2017. (On December 2, 2017 they would have celebrated their 72nd anniversary) He leaves behind his daughter Linda Gleddie (Doug) of Kamloops, son Murray (Marti), son Garlyn (Taralin) both of Campbell River BC and daughter Lenae Bamber (Murray) of Finch Ontario as well as numerous grandchildren and great grandchildren. Don was predeceased by his son Loren.

Photographer donates print to HOL

Sandy Sharkey, an Ottawa photographer, has donated a beautiful print of one of her photos to the House of Lazarus (HOL) in Mountain for fundraising purposes. Sharkey posted a picture of the print on Facebook and asked her followers to nominate a charitable recipient of the print, which is valued at nearly $500. The print is of a wild horse on Sable Island in Nova Scotia. Mandy Ayotte nominated the HOL and the winner was announced on Dec. 12. Sharkey dropped the print off at the HOL on Dec. 15. Crafters guild supports local causes

Michelle O'Donohue Record Contributor

INGLESIDE – The Ingleside and Area Needle Crafters Guild met for their monthly meeting on Wed., Dec. 13. The group meets on the second Wednesday of every month at the Ingleside Masonic Centre. December's meeting was special, particularly however, as there were two added components. The Guild was marking the season with their holiday party, crafters donned festive sweaters and accessories, and the group presented cheques to support several local groups and charities.

President of the Guild Chris Savage took a moment away from the busy meeting to speak with The Record about the group, and their charitable efforts. She explained that the Guild is relatively new, coming up on a year and a half old; and, that the creation of this group was born partially out of a desire for a guild that met during the day. The Ingleside Guild meets in the afternoon to lessen the dangers of driving at night. Savage remarked, "We were going to a guild in Lancaster at night, and in the winter, there were a couple of incidents where importance of the team she we kind of scared ourselves, so the girls asked me if I would start a guild." The group is comprised of each meeting, members are invited to bring any craft or project they desire to work on. Savage noted that the group includes knitters, cross stitchers, Swedish weavers, quilters, and went on to joke, "you name it, we have it." She further explained that the club is equally about a social gathering, and an opportunity for crafters to share their knowledge, and ask questions together.

As the Guild is a nonprofit organization, and unable to keep the money raised from membership fees, Savage explained that they chose local causes to pass their funds on to, as a way to support the area. Donations were made to the Masonic Centre, for renovations, the Ingleside Splash Pad fund, Friends of the Ingleside Library for children's programs, and "two 20 dollar gift cards to a boy and a girl on a tree at the bank" for Christmas, explained Savage. In addition to the donation of membership fees, the Guild also conducted a food drive. Lesley O'Gorman from the Ingleside Food Bank was present at the meeting to accept the collected nonperishable goods.

Savage described the has supporting her to the success of the Guild. There is an eight-member executive committee that around 30 crafters, and at assists with the work required to keep the Guild running smoothly, that Savage described as, "the best executive [committee] in the world." Savage stated that she is "so proud" of the Guild, and went on to say that while it is a lot of work, she gets a great deal of joy out of it, "I get a lot of satisfaction when I sit back and listen to this," referring to the happy sounds of laughter and conversation filling the room around her, adding, "a lot of these women didn't know each other until I started this."

Representatives were on hand from the Masonic Centre and Friends of the Ingleside Library to accept the monetary donations.

Rob's Review

Rob Sadler, GM

North Dundas Rockets

CHESTERVILLE – As General Manager of the club I would like to congratulate the guys on our team for a good six-game run and first half of the season. It's unfortunate that it had to end on Sunday, but the reality is Clarence has been playing some good hockey lately. All we can do as an organization is focus on the positives moving into 2018:

• 14-6 record is the best start in Rockets' franchise history ...

• Despite some player movement, out of 18 players, over 50 per cent of the team continues to be local, 11 guys from the area will remain with the team and its final roster, as well as six local affiliates.

• We've had some welcomed additions in Connor Roth, Ryan Carbonette, Matthew Cowley, Griffen Mccaffery, Nick Sourges, Tom Fingler and Jace Legue.

Stitt, Shawn Simms and Landon Veenstra.

Strong goaltending in Jason Buma.

• We are as deep a team as I've been a part of in eight years of Junior hockey in Mckay Balaton, Tanner Barnett, Justin Lefebvre, Jack Van Kessel, Brodie Barkley, Tyson Sherrer, Chris Marchand, Shayne Lynott and the affiliates we have used: Ben Medynski, Curtis Barkley, Travis McInnis, Justin Shay and Kage Hallet.

• Bryden Van Kessel is leading the league in scoring with with 47 points.

• Connor Roth opened his first 10 games with our team recording 31 points.

 Tom Fingler and Brodie Barkley have been tremendous local additions to our team

• Justin Lefebvre is definitely in the running for rookie of the year honours with 16 goals and 10 assists through 19 games.

• This team is a phenomenal group

On Fri., Dec. 29, I would like to remind you all that the North Dundas Rockets are hosting a Junior team from Meyrin Switzerland; rumoured to be sponsored by Winchester Foodland courtesy of Store Manager, Dan Pettigrew; in an exhibition game at the Chesterville Arena. Puck Drops at 7:30 p.m. We invite as many to the rink as possible to cheer on the Rockets and give the Swiss team a small town Canadian feel for just how important Junior hockey is to our communities.

The Rockets would also like to thank all of the fans who have been coming out to support us on Saturday nights and our sponsors who have really stepped up to the plate this year and shown incredible support.

Finally, on a personal note, I would like to thank Rockets' President Kevin Byers and Vice-President Kent Young for giving the staff and me the opportunity to be a part of a great organization, and would also like to

Driving under the influence puts lives at risk

The dangers associated with impaired driving are well known. Nevertheless, every holiday season, countless drivers get behind the wheel either exhausted or under the influence of alcohol, medication or illicit drugs, putting the lives of others at risk as well as their own.

Are you planning on hitting the bar at your holiday shindig? There's nothing wrong with having fun, as long as you don't get behind the wheel afterward! Public transportation, taxis, designated drivers — there are many ways to get home safe and sound without driving your personal vehicle. Other sensible solutions include staying the night or renting a room at a nearby hotel.

Like extreme fatigue, alcohol, illegal drugs, and medication affect a person's cognitive functions and compromise their ability to drive. In addition to clouding one's judgment, these substances impair a person's concentration, coordination and reaction time.

Did you know

Your blood alcohol level can continue to increase up to 90 minutes after you've consumed your last drink of the evening.

Mixing alcohol with drugs (prescription medication included) leads to a greater impairment of cognitive functions, increasing your risk of causing a crash.

Going prolonged periods of time without sleep (more than 17 consecutive hours) is equivalent to drinking several alcoholic beverages. That's why it's strongly recommended to avoid driving when sleep-deprived.

There's no foolproof way to remove alcohol from your system. Taking a cold shower or drinking black coffee will not lower your blood alcohol content. Your body needs time to break down the alcohol naturally — it's the only way!

RUSSELL - The Russell community, Kemptville Retirement Living.

There were vendor tables with crafts, handmade knitted or crocheted items, jewellery, spices and food, a wooden puzzles, as well as a white elephant table and a silent auction. A raffle and door prizes added to the festive Christmas bazaar. Dutch refreshments included Gouda cheese, speculaas cookies and fresh delicious raisin bread.

Two of our Grade 11 students, Sebastian Larrivee and Solomon Svenson, competed in the second round of Information and Communications Technology Council's CyberTitan Challenge. The students had to find the flaws in operating systems, while maintaining computer functions not to mention the fact that the challenge lasted a whole six hours. That's pretty impressive!

There is an exciting new lunchtime program, offered by the University of Ottawa, starting on Jan. 25. The program offers an introduction to engineering, where students who sign up will have the opportunity to use and learn about new technology. It's $65 to sign up, and is offered to Grades 7 through 10. But that's only the tip of the iceberg. RHS is also going to be offering a Specialist High Skills Major (SHSM) in Information and Communications Technology during the 2018-2019 school year. This program will give students the opportunity to be involved in new media and technologies, so keep your eye out if you're interested.

Speaking of futuristic technology... last Friday, a group of RHS students, teachers and parents attended the opening night of Star Wars: The Last Jedi. It's become something of a tradition the last three Decembers to go to the latest instalment in the Star Wars saga. Episode VIII was definitely not a disappointment! Amazing action sequences and lots of surprises!

That's all for this week's and [this year's] RHS report! See you in 2018! Happy Holidays.

GEORGE GIFTEAS

All too soon, we have lost a great friend, husband, father and brother. Sadly, George Gifteas passed away November 23, 2017 in Greece after a valiant battle with cancer.

George is survived by: Sofie, 3 daughters, Katarina, Roula and Maria, one son Theodoros, brothers Tony and Christos, sister Litza and his parents. George's brother and business partner Chris is in Greece making arrangements.

George came to Russell in the 1980's where he opened a "Take Out" Pizza shop known as George's Restaurant, in a small, rented room in Russell. Soon afterwards, he purchased the building and doubled the size of his restaurant twice more. Around the corner he also purchased a house and a vacant church and agreed to sell the church to the town of Russell. It was moved to another corner and is the current Boyd Museum in Russell.

George will be sadly missed by all who knew him.
