Charges laid relating to break-ins

NORTH DUNDAS—On Aug. 24, Stormont, Dundas & Glengarry Ontario Provincial Police officers responded to a report of multiple break-ins at several residences on Fred St., Christie Lane and Annable Road in North Dundas Township.

Investigation indicated that sometime overnight culprit(s) entered several garages/sheds and removed various alcoholic beverages, coolers, gas jerry cans, frozen meat and two mountain bikes.

On Aug. 28, members of the Community Street Crime Unit of SD&G OPP arrested a male youth in connection with the break-ins. A 17-year-old male from North Dundas was arrested and is charged with; Break and Enter (5 counts); Possession of Property obtained by crime; Fail to Comply with conditions of an Undertaking; Fail to comply with Probation (10 counts).

He was held in custody pending a court appearance (bail) at the Ontario Court of Justice in Cornwall. The name of the accused is being withheld in accordance with the Youth Criminal Justice Act (YCJA).

Building Revitalization at Lost Villages Museum

Carolyn Thompson Goddard Record Correspondent

SOUTH STORMONT-Robin Pixner, owner of Rhino Wood Repair in Waterloo, was at the Lost Villages Museum in Ault Park South Stormont on August 18 demonstrating his product and process while repairing some of the wood buildings located there.

Ginette Guy of the Lost Villages Historical Society explained how the process developed by Pixner stops further deterioration of the building, continuing how the repairs are structural and eliminates the need for costly replacement. She continued how the McLeod log house, which dates from the 1840's, had lower beam rotting which was repaired by Pixner and will stop further deterioration of the historic building.

Celebrating country roots at the Stormont County Fair!

Carolyn Thompson Goddard

NEWINGTON—Stormont County Fair is a long-time Labour Day weekend tradition for visitors and local families providing an opportunity to appreciate the rural heritage in Eastern Ontario. There was something for everyone with agricultural exhibits, cattle and horse shows, home craft exhibits, a midway boasting mechanical as well as inflatable rides, vendors and of course the demolition derby and fair dance.

A fair parade preceded the Opening Ceremonies where dignitaries arrived in classic cars and Stormont, Dundas and South Glengarry MP Guy Lauzon presented SDSG Service Awards to Stormont County Residents Christina Dunbar, Michael Huston and Pierre Thibault and mentioned William and Shannon Young would be receiving their awards later. After addresses by the invited guests and the unveiling of a plaque which described the Camp Kagama Pavilion and its relocation to the fairgrounds, Stormont Princess of the Furrow Haleigh-Jo tePlate opened the 2018 Stormont County Fair by telling visitors to prepare to "be wowed and amazed".

There can be little doubt fairgoers were wowed and amazed at all the activities at the 2018 Stormont County Fair. Taking a stroll around the grounds over the weekend, there were opportunities galore to visit with friends, enjoy an agricultural show, take a minute to peruse the exhibits or enjoy some fair food.

As the 2018 Stormont County Fair wound down Monday afternoon, Stormont Agricultural Society president David Zummach thanked the "wonderful group of volunteers and sponsors" who "help and support us to make this a successful weekend," and continued how the fair was a "wonderful way to end the summer".

Derks farms has second big event coming up

CHESTERVILLE from hosting successful Dundas Soil & Crop Improvement Association (OSCIA) Seeding and Equipment Demonstration Day, Marty Derks is already planning his next big event.

Featuring increasingly popular strip tillage equipment, the demo day took place last Wednesday on 800 acres of Derks farmland along Highway 43 west of Chesterville. The event rotates annually with one thing in common... organizers like to be easily accessible off the 43.

Some 150 area farmers and other interested participants bought $5 tickets for the BBQ lunch and took in the action out on the field, the latest in planting technology presented by local equipment dealers.

A director at large with DSCIA, Derks welcomed guests to the large open field which proved ideal for the event. Luckily, lunch and most of the and there'll be a talk on forward sales action took place ahead of an of grain.

Celebrating 30 years of roasting, the Derks will be offering existing customers 10 per cent off the next load, and 10 per cent off for customers who bring a new client to Appreciation Day.

Back at the DSCIA event, Derks said he's researching a switch to strip tillage, a cross which combines the benefits of conventional tillage with the advantages of no-till. It would be a costly proposition, Derks said, especially for the 16-24 row equipment that he's considering and the extra tractor power needed to pull it. On the other hand, the new equipment - which also spreads fertilizer - would allow him to retire three other machines and get along with three fewer hired

So far, Derks said, only a handful of Eastern Ontario farmers have moved over to strip-till systems, with the remainder still on the fence as they continue examining results at demonstration days such as the one

North Dundas Green Food Box packing up and heading to a new time and location

MOUNTAIN— Linking Hands' North Dundas Green Food Box (GFB) program is moving.

For several years now, the GFB has called the Joel Steele Community Centre in Winchester home, courtesy of the Township of North Dundas. Pick-up days were the last Friday of the month. But, that's all changing.

Beginning in September 2018, the GFB pick-up day will move to the fourth Wednesday of the month and relocate to the Community Food Share's Winchester location.

"While the township has been absolutely amazing in their dedication and assistance with this program, it just made sense to move," Linking Hands coordinator Sandy Casselman said. "In South Dundas, we currently have a pick-up location at the Morrisburg branch of Community Food Share. Those who are unable to pick-up their bags by the allotted time are given a second chance to do so, as the food bank is open from p.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday evenings. Bags that aren't collected are then donated to the food bank. We wanted to provide the same option in North Dundas."

While Community Food Share's May Street, the Winchester location will be the new main packing and pick-up location for North Dundas, the outlying satellite sites, which include Chartwell Nor-Dun Seniors' Support Centre in Winchester, Flair with Fabrics in Chesterville, and House of Lazarus in Mountain, will continue to operate as before with only the day changing.

A new schedule has been posted on both the Linking Hands and House of Lazarus websites and the GFB Facebook page. The September order by date is Wed., Sept. 19 and the pick up day is Wed., Sept. 26.

The Green Food Box is available in both North and South Dundas. The order and pick-up dates are spaced two weeks apart giving clients opportunity to order from both. The bulk-buying fresh produce program secures its fruits and vegetables from Quattrocchi Co. Ltd. in Smiths Falls. There are two bag sizes available: small ($10) and large ($15). Contents vary from month to month depending on the number of orders placed (buying power) and the current product pricing and availability. Linking Hands dispenses roughly 100 GFB bags per month in both North and South Dundas.

Farmers' election dividend

ONTARIO-The recent election has put Ontario under considerably new and different management. Love him or hate him, Premier Ford will bring a new approach to government. His mantra of putting more money in tax payers' pockets should be good for agriculture. The rural ridings of Ontario were a big part of Premier Ford's majority. Urban ridings can be fickle. The new government won't have the luxury of an extremely unpopular sitting Premier in the next election. Wynne actually conceded the election before the vote.

If the rural ridings remain loyal, it will be the best opportunity for farmers to collect on the election support dividend. Providing that Premier Ford delivers the dividend, the rural ridings could also be critical for any possible re-election chances in four years.

Over the past 37 years that I have provided legal services to farmers, I have defended many farmers in court against a tidal wave of complex new health, safety and environmental regulations. In many cases it is not the law itself that is the problem. The decision was made long ago to put the investigation and enforcement of farm legislation primarily under the Ministry of the Environment and Climate Change (MOECC). I always thought this was a bad arrangement. There are enough risk factors facing farmers.

The administration of farm legislation is in the hands of officers with no loyalty or affinity to agriculture, often with little knowledge or understanding of farming. I once experienced an Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (OSPCA) officer who gave evidence under oath that he witnessed market pigs standing in water three feet deep up to their knee joint and the pigs were on a slopping floor which meant the water was defying the laws of gravity. To the investigation officer, a conviction for some minor transgression is just another successful notch on the officer's belt. Even where there is no demonstrable impact or potential impact on the environment or public safety, the officer is up one regardless of the cost to the farm sector. These defence costs can be significant.

We do have an example of a system with checks and balances with respect to complaints against farmers for noise, odour and dust. With respect to these complaints, there is a protocol between MOECC and OMAFRA that allows officers from OMAFRA to mediate the dispute and, if mediation fails, refer the dispute to the Normal Farm Practices Protection Board. The Board has broad powers to resolve the dispute and at a much lower cost. A similar system with appropriate amendments could be used to vet other disputes under farm legislation, which could weed out frivolous and unnecessary charges. I don't want to only pick on MOECC officers. I have also had bad experiences with Ministry of Transport with respect to use of farm trucks, the OSPCA and Health and Food, just to name a few.

I challenge the farm organizations to seize this opportunity. Four years goes by very quickly. The appointment of Ernie Hardeman as Agricultural Minister is a further benefit to agriculture and Hardeman has always been a strong supporter of agriculture. This is a rare opportunity for the farmers to cash in the dividend in return for the support the rural ridings provided the government, and we have a strong leader at the helm of OMAFRA. I suspect individual farmers or ad hoc groups who have directly experienced abuse will need to encourage the farm organizations to act. Time is of the essence.

Fair thee well

RUSSELL-Anybody who lives in a community where an agricultural fair remains a major part of the annual social cycle should consider themselves fortunate indeed.

The fact that a fair is mounted year after year such as Chesterville and Russell says a lot about a community's spirit, resolve, cohesiveness, appreciation of traditional values and the rural way of life, and ability to pull volunteers together towards a common goal. It's part of the reason that Russell has been recognized as third best place in Canada in which to live.

There may be complaints that it's getting harder and harder to pull together enough volunteers these days but the job is still somehow getting done. It's almost like the weekly fair pulls itself together by osmosis, with generations of supporters tweaking it from year to year.

One hundred and sixty years! As of the 2018 edition which opens tomorrow (Thursday), that's how long the generations, many from the same families, have been making sure there's a fair in Russell... and a fair to be reckoned with, honouring the way it used to be while representing today and even peeking into the future.

Down the road in Glengarry County, the Williamstown Fair has come together annually since 1812 and is Ontario's longest running of 230 agricultural fairs; a shortage of volunteers, perhaps, but the ones in place certainly mean business.

Consider these surprising Russell Fair highlights from the past: In 1922, special New York Central Railway trains were requested to carry fairgoers from Ottawa; for many years, horse racing was a main drawing card, along with foot and automobile races, lacrosse and baseball; when the arena collapsed in 1941, the fair ceased operations until after WWII except for calf clubs and field crop competitions.

A typical dedicated fair volunteer was the late Allan Anderson who served on the Russell Agricultural Society for a good decade. Allan passed away Aug. 17 at age 77 and his life was celebrated Aug. 24 at the Russell Legion. He was known in the community to be trustworthy, versatile, genuine, generous, and unflappable.

A career teacher, Allan had tremendous love for the cultural icon that's the fair community any determined enough to have retained one, and its mission to inform farmers and rural residents as to their own lifestyle while educating city slickers as to what exactly they're missing.

"Always give back to the community. That's one of the lessons my dad taught us," said daughter Tracey, adding that Allan would donate to the cause any money he earned performing his fair board duties.

For pretty much my entire life – which is getting longish at this point – I've been able to walk, bike, or drive for a few minutes to the local fair, starting back to growing up in Aylmer, since absorbed by Gatineau.

The long-gone Aylmer Fair was the highlight of the year for school kids who might be lucky enough to see their own primitive art work on display or to enter one of the family mutts everybody had more than one - in the pet show and maybe even win a token prize.

Part of the fun was bypassing the main gate with its modest admission fee and jumping the board fence that extended along one side of the fairgrounds. My hazy memory suggests we may have been caught once and ordered to go around to the gate but most of the time we got in free and clear. It's probably because those in authority didn't really care about kids being kids.

Later, we moved to Russell and touring the fairgrounds on the Saturday morning continued as an annual ritual. Of course, we'd return several times throughout the day and take in the arena entertainment depending on who was featured. Favourite stops always included the Women's Institute lunch counter, the cattle and sheep pens, the horse shows, the home and craft exhibits, and the antique machinery displays. I'm not a midway guy... never have been, never intend to be.

This Friday, I'll probably check out the Blushing Brides, a Rolling Stones tribute band. It seems fitting since I became a Stones fan when they first burst onto the scene more than 50 years ago... is that really possible? On Saturday, I'll tour the fairgrounds to see what's old and what's new as I've done almost every year dating back to those board fence days of the Aylmer Fair.

Moulinette Millstone recovered Carolyn Thompson Goddard

Record Correspondent

SOUTH STORMONT-A millstone from the village of Moulinette, which was flooded during the St. Lawrence Power and Seaway Project, was raised from its watery grave on Aug. 18 of this year and has found a new home near the Moulinette Station at the Lost Villages Museum in South Stormont's Ault Park.

Mills were an integral part of early communities and according to Jim Brownell, historian and past president of the Lost Villages Historical Society, the millstone was "from the Snetsinger Grist Mill, owned by John Gray Goodall Snetsinger". Brownell explained a power house at Mille Roches was built as part of the old Cornwall Canal system over 110 years ago, a dam was created which flooded the lowlands in front of Mille Roches and Moulinette and created Bergin Lake.

According to Brownell, it was during this time the millstone, part of the Snetsinger grist mill located near the centre of Moulinette, was lost to the waters of the St. Lawrence and lay in its watery grave until being discovered by Marc Pilon and his team, while diving along the old Cornwall Canal at Moulinette.

Pilon, a member of the Lost Villages Historical Society, along with fellow divers Andrew Emard, Steve Guindon and Sam Hamed had discovered the millstone while diving. Brownell explained it took the divers several weeks to secure the necessary straps onto the millstone due to the swift current at the site. After approximately four hours work on Aug. 18 where the millstone was lifted up using inflatable bags, it was floated to the river-side near Ault Park and hauled by a trailer to its present location near the Moulinette train station in the Lost Villages Museum.

LVHS President Gardner Sage commented, "We are

Tom Van Dusen

Record Contributer

FINCH-Sixteen months after retiring as its general manager, Dennis O'Grady was back at the South Nation Conservation office in Finch last Wednesday a power-point presentation of some of his favourite photos depicting historic events in the region.

When O'Grady left the agency he'd overseen for 30 years, he wasn't totally unencumbered. He accepted a contract to cull though some 15,000 SNC photos and try to place them in some kind of order. That meant tossing repeats and images of no value and trying to identify places and people photographed during SNC's 70-year history.

Now complete, the project accomplished what it set out to do, O'Grady told members of the SNC Communications Committee and a few guests after showing several handpicked photos, many of them recalling the Lemieux landslides of 1971 and 1993.

Because of the ever present threat, SNC spearheaded a project to relocate Lemieux residents living dangerously close to the South Nation River, transforming community into a ghost town. It has been 25 years since the last major slide; because of unstable soil conditions along the river, experts contend - and O'Grady agrees – that it's not as matter of if but a matter of when the next major slide will occur.

O'Grady also showed several random flooding shots and some landscapes that he particularly likes. One shortcoming of the collection, he said, is that it doesn't focus enough on people and their reactions to environmental conditions of the times; the focus is mainly on the conditions themselves.

Now that the culling is complete, O'Grady would like to see the photos made more accessible to the public, either through a table-top style book or perhaps an electronic display. Obviously, all 15,000 images couldn't be published but 100-200 of the most significant could be.

Replaced by Angela Coleman, O'Grady moved back to South Western Ontario where he started out with Ministry of Natural Resources. He said he loves the area and is taking an active interest in local environmental issues.

While at SNC O'Grady's overriding goal was to protect the natural environment without putting a wall around it. It should remain accessible to

House of Lazarus' annual Fill the Bus food bank fundi

KEMPTVILLE— House of Lazarus of several Dundas Youth Centre members, (HOL) Food Bank raised $1,406 and 2,539.2 pounds of food during its 2018 Fill the Bus event.

"This year's Fill the Bus event surpassed our expectations," HOL client services manager Kim Merkley said. "This will help us help our food bank clients through the end of summer and into the school year. It will make a huge difference for our food bank and for the families who visit us."

Sponsored by Rilla Seward-McShane of Kemptville's Coldwell Banker Coburn Realty Brokerage, this year's Fill the Bus event was held Fri., Aug. 24. With the help

HOL staff collected $703, which was then matched by Coldwell Banker.

The local youth collected nonperishable food items from generous shoppers at both Jonsson's Your Independent Grocer and Walmart Kemptville Supercentre. They packed the items into two buses, which were donated by Lannin's Buslines and Wubs Transit. The drivers, Barbara Levesque and Jeff Arcand, respectively, volunteered their time and driving skills. The total of items collected this year is almost double the 1,400 pounds collected in 2017.

"It's the community support that makes this event so successful," Merkley said. "We had a sponsor matching dollars, two large Kemptville businesses allowing us access to their storefronts and customers, two separate bus lines donating the use of a bus, two drivers donating their time to drive those buses, nine members of the local youth group volunteering their time and energy to help collect and haul the donations, and, last but not least, the many generous shoppers who contributed money and/or items to this food drive. We are truly blessed."

House of Lazarus is a food bank and outreach mission located in Mountain, serving hundreds of clients from surrounding communities, including all of Dundas County, Grenville County and South Ottawa. Last year, 600 people were fed through HOL's food bank, while 2,630 people were provided with food, clothing, furniture, and household goods through its outreach programming. A communitysupported venture, House of Lazarus does not rely on government funding. It's through HOL thrift stores, grants, donations, and fundraisers that its projects and programs happen.

For more information on this or other House of Lazarus projects, please visit www.houseoflazarus.com or follow the mission on Facebook.

A Labour Day weekend tradition at Upper Canada Village

Carolyn Thompson Goddard Record Correspondent

MORRISBURG-For almost a decade Labour Day weekend at Upper Canada Village has celebrated the noble steed with Horse Lovers' Weekend. This year, Horse Lovers' Weekend was held on September 1, 2, 3rd with Bruce Henbest, coordinator of interpretation at UCV and St. Lawrence Commission, commenting over 3,000 people attending the event on Sept. 1 and anticipated a good turnout during the rest of the weekend.

Horses played an important role during the early settlement of this country which included transporting people and goods as well as providing power for farms and other early industries. Upper Canada Village, which provides visitors with a glimpse into an 1860's community, utilizes the services of Canadian horses on site to demonstrate these aspects of the equine contribution to our history.

In addition to the daily parade of horses during Horse Lovers' Weekend, several are agricultural demonstrations of horsepower throughout the village. Cal and George, two Belgian horses owned Roy Sherrer of Spencerville, provided visitors with demonstration of disc harrowing in a field across from the Village Schoolhouse. The team was driven by Alan Moulton who explained disc harrowing was done after a plow had turned up the grass and broke up the sod getting the soil ready for the cultivator. Sherrer explained the Belgians were generally 17 hands high, a hand is about 4 inches, and weigh between 1700-2200 pounds.

One of the most anticipated events in the daily schedule of Horse Lovers' Weekend is the midday Parade of Horses throughout UCV. This year a new addition to the parade was the Grand Trunk Omnibus. Henbest explained the Omnibus, which was constructed in the 1930's, is

Advancing Women Conference provides powerful connections and learning opportunities

NIAGARA FALLS -Over 4000 women in agriculture have gathered at the eight AWC conferences since 2014. Advancing Women is now recognized as the place to be for women passionate about agriculture.

The next two-day Advancing Women in will be held on October 14, 15 & 16, at the Hilton/Fallsview in Niagara Falls and will put the spotlight on women in agriculture.

According to conference founder and organizer Iris Meck, the strong turnout shows that Canadian women see opportunities in agriculture. "These conferences appeal to women at all stages of life and from all areas of agriculture and food from across Canada and parts of U.S. including university and college students, business experts, motivational inspirational leaders and industry representatives. Meck says, "We see women of all ages from small family farms to large multinational companies. The diversity at these conferences is amazing."

Each conference attracts between 450 and 600 attendees, with over 230 organizations represented.

Meck notes Advancing Women Conferences are a great way for women to come together for a few of learning, days networking and sharing. "Feedback from attendees underlines that our conferences give women the chance to share their story and learn from each Agriculture Conference other. They get together in one room and find out they have a lot in common, regardless of their position or industry sector," Meck says. "The diversity at these conferences shows the great contribution that women make to this industry."

Meck attributes the popularity of the Advancing Women Conferences to allowing time for individual networking as well as providing dynamic speakers who share real-life skills and stories. In addition to speakers from agriculture, agrifood and related industries, Advancing Conference Women speakers have been chefs. young business owners, doctors, researchers and celebrities.

Rockets open training camp

Jeff Moore

Record Staff

WINCHESTER—The North Dundas Rockets began their 2018 NCJHL season on Wed., Aug. 29, at the Joel Steele Community Centre in Winchester. The Rockets were coming off their best season in team history as they went to a game seven in the NCJHL Championship only to come up short.

The Rockets also went to the final in 2016 against the Embrun Panthers but lost in five games so they will be playing this season with a little soreness. The Rockets had a good turnout for the tryouts with 28 skaters and two goalies.

Players who came out for the first ice session on Wednesday night were Barrett Rutters, Mckay Balaton, Carter Tait, Cam

The Rockets open their exhibition season as they welcome the Morrisburg Lions to the Joel Steele Community Centre in Winchester on Sun., Sept. 9, at 2:15 p.m.

The North Dundas Rockets are grinding at the bit to get the season started after going to the NCJHL Championship for the past two seasons as they opened their training camp on Wed., Aug. 29, at the Joel Steele Community Centre in Winchester. The Rockets played a black vs white scrimmage to allow the coaches to get a look at the new crop of players. The Rockets' veterans, Matt Cowley (left) and Reilly Tondreau look to return to the team this season as overagers.

The Hawks wasted little time getting on the scoreboard as last year's captain scored unassisted goal just 1:37 into the first period to take a 1-0 lead. The Panthers evened the score when Brandon Paquette snapped one home from Robert Beaudoin at 7:45.

The game remained tied until there was 2:35 left in the opening frame when Kyle Kuehni found himself alone in front of the right side of the net and he roofed it from William MacDonald.

The Hawks took a 2-1 the first in intermission. The Panthers got to even again as Connor Drost slipped one to the back of the net from a tictack-goal from Paquette at 3:52. The Panthers took their first lead of the game when former Hawk, Griffin Desjardins, Joshua Ivanski

CASSELMAN—The Casselman Vikings began their defence of the CCHL2's Barkley Cup on Mon., Aug. 27, at the J. R. Brisson Complex in their first camp of this season. The Vikings had 21 players show up during the training camp over the three days Aug. 27, 29 and 30.

On Thursday night they had a scrimmage which included six players from last year's roster that were overagers. The scrimmage was fast and light with a lot of bragging and teasing going on to help ease the mood.

The Vikings welcome the Embrun Panthers on Tues., Sept. 4 in their first exhibition game of the season and the Winchester Hawks on Thurs., Sept. 6. The Vikings then travel to the Palais Des Sports on Sat., Sept. 8, to take on the Embrun Panthers and on to the Barbara Ann Scott Arena in Ottawa to take on the Ottawa West Golden Knights on Tues., Sept. 10.

Vikings begin road to sixth consecutive championship

The Casselman Vikings held a spirited scrimmage on Thurs., Aug. 30, at the J. R. Brisson Complex that featured six players that had to move on after winning the championship last season as they sped things up for the new blood. The Vikings will be without 11 players that were 20-year-old last year as they look to extend their championship streak to six.

O S H A W A — T h e Casselman Vikings' Danyk Drouin was signed by the OHL's Oshawa Generals for the 2018-19 season. Drouin won the CCHL2's Barkley Cup with the Vikings last season and was part of the team when the Vikings won the championship the previous year.

The 17-year-old Casselman native, played for the Casselman -Cambridge Predators to begin his hockey career in Initiation and Novice. In 2010, he moved up to the Eastern Ontario Atom Cobras A and AA the following year.

He remained with the Corbras AA into Minor Peewee and moved up to AAA Peewee with the Eastern Ontario Wild. He stayed with the Wild AAA for his Minor Bantam year. He began his 2015-16 with the Cumberland Grads AAA Major Midgets but finished the season with the AAA Wild.

Drouin then started the season for the Ottawa Junior Senators AAA and was an affiliate to the Casselman Vikings. He started the year in 2017-18 with the CCHL's Ottawa Junior Senators but was traded to the Cumberland Grads of the CCHL. Drouin got his release from the Grads to play full-time for the Vikings where he helped win the 2017-18 Barkley Cup.

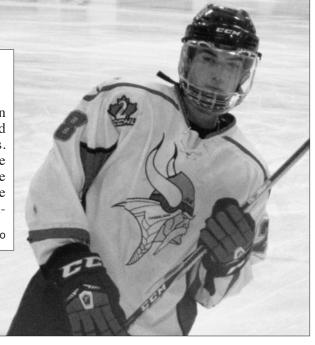

With the Vikings last season, he scored 14 goals and picked up 26 assists for 40 points in just 33 games

2018 Season champions crowned at Cornwall Motor Speedway

Martin Bélanger

Special to the Record

CORNWALL—It was championship night at Cornwall Motor Speedway on Sun., Sept. 2. Mother Nature wanted to be part of the action in the early portion delaying the night a bit, but promoter Raymond Lavergne had a different opinion and the show sponsored by Co-op Embrun went on as planned.

Brian McDonald took the early lead in the final round of the Draper Doors Canadian Nationals feature over Michael Parent and Luke Whitteker. The first nine laps were quickly done as Dany Bilodeau had issues with his ride bringing the race to yellow.

McDonald had a great ride as he kept the lead over Parent and Whitteker. On lap 19, McDonald went a little too high in turn two; Parent and Whitteker moved to the front with Steve Bernier now running in third.

Series contender Luke Whitteker came to a stop on lap 26, as he headed to the pits. Parent holding off Bernier on the restart with Mathieu Boisvert now running in third.

Mathieu Laramée loops in turn four. On the restart, a big wreck occurred in the front stretch involving the current point's leader in both the season and the series. Carey Terrance, Louie Jackson, Steve Bernard, Dany Bilodeau, Kevin Hamel, Maxime Plante, Steve Morris and Tim Fuller, were ok but all their cars sustained heavy damage after 39 laps.

When the race resumed Steve Bernier went to the lead with Parent and Mario Clair up to third. Bernier had a strong car all night as Boisvert claimed third at the halfway point.

The laps clicked down as Kayle Robidoux brought caution on lap 70, Robidoux was running in fourth. When the green lights came back, Clair jumped to third and set sights on Parent for second, he used the outside lane to pass Parent and tried to reel in the leader, Bernier.

Some bad luck for Parent coming to a stop with 15 laps to go. Bernier remained first in front of Clair and Whitteker back up to third. Bernier led the final laps to win his first Canadian Nationals feature over Clair and Whitteker.

By finishing on the final step of the podium, Whitteker claimed the 2018 Draper Doors Canadian Nationals. Carey Terrance wins a fourth track title in the division at Cornwall.

Michael Blais to the lead in the Alexandria Home Hardware Pro-Stock feature. Blais had some company with Roch Aubin and Marc Lalonde. Aubin was persistent and was able to pass Blais at halfway point as Blais held onto second over Lalonde with 15 laps in the books.

Aubin went on to win his third feature of the season. CD Beauchamp claimed his first championship in the Pro-Stock.

Martin Pelletier and Alex Lajoie led the field to green in the Co-op Embrun 50, Pelletier led the first lap as Jarrett Herbison slowed in turn four bringing the field together.

On the restart, Pelletier kept the lead with Justin Lalancette moving up to second and Lajoie in third. Caution was back out on lap seven for Ricky Thompson. Pelletier held the lead as a good battle for third was occurring between Adam Rozon and Martin Hebert.

Pelletier pulled away from the field as the first fifteen laps were in the books. A few cautions slowed the field down and Pelletier had great starts at each occasion with Justin Lalancette running a strong second with Adam Rozon in third as the feature hit the halfway point.

The race picked up some momentum as the leader joined lapped traffic, Lalancette started to challenge the leader as they ran side by side for a few laps but the yellow slowed the field down with 10 laps to go.

On the following restart, Pelletier remained in first as Cornwall point's leader Shane Pecore cracked the top three as top five contenders Fred Gamache and Adam Rozon got together losing some ground over the field.

Pelletier went on to lead the whole 50-lap event and captured his second DIRTcar Sportsman North Series win over Lalancette and Pecore.

Marc Dagenais led the way in the final feature of the year in the Tracy Wheeler Assist2sell Mini-Stock but got passed by Corey Gates with new comer, Sylvain Charest in second. Yanik Potvin made his way to the front making a three-way battle by halfway point.

Potvin used the outside lane to take the lead on lap eight. On a lap 10 restart, Charest had a strong start and took the lead with Potvin on his back bumper. Charest went on to win his first ever feature. Chris James was crowned the track champion.

The season will close out with the Fireball Enduro, the best day of entertainment for the family in Eastern Ontario.

A tribute to those who keep our economy rolling

6 safety tips to follow when driving a heavy truck

As a professional truck driver, you have to make sure to do everything within your power to share the road safely. Here's a reminder of some rules you should follow when driving your

- 1. Know your blind spots. Locate your blind spots, note when a vehicle enters them, and remember: it's there until you see it
- 2. Keep your distance. Avoid tailgating other drivers. It's not only dangerous for you, but it's also unsafe for the driver you're following, as he or she will only be able to see your truck's grille in their rear-view mirror.
- 3. Help other drivers pass you. Slow down slightly so that the other vehicle can overtake you quickly, and therefore not stay in your blind spot too long.
- 4. Be careful when turning. Make sure no vehicles fall within your turning radius and be sure to signal well in advance.
- 5. Adjust your driving. Adjust your speed according to the weather and road conditions. In addition, be alert in construction zones. Not only is the risk of a mishap greater due to the limited space, but gravel surfaces increase braking distance and create a cloud of dust that reduces visibility for other drivers.
- 6. Learn to anticipate. Foresight will keep you and everyone else on the road safe. Be aware of traffic that's in close proximity to your truck (particularly cyclists and pedestrians), plan ahead when turning, anticipate traffic slowdowns and always be alert to sudden changes in driving conditions.

Lafrances bounce back from second major storm

Tom Van Dusen

Villager Contributer Andy and

Donna Lafrance had their work cut out for them over the long weekend... they were still cleaning up after the second major storm to visit their yard in recent months last Wednesday.

Thankful no one was hurt on either occasion, the Lafrances are philosophical about the near misses, pointing out that natural disasters can occur anywhere. While Donna ioked with a television news crew she was thinking of relocating to Alaska because it was probably safer, the couple will remain at the South Russell Road home where they've lived for many years.

"Bring it on!," Andy joked when asked if he was worried about any further weather eruptions in his yard.

The first storm ripped half of the shingles off their roof. Andy was at home at the time and was shocked at the ferocity of the raging winds which only lasted for a few seconds.

This time, neither Andy nor Donna were home. Andy was working nearby and was surprised that so much damage was done both at his place and next door where a storage barn was shattered. The steel roof from the barn lay like crumpled paper in a field 100 feet away: the new steel roof on the Lafrances' house escaped unscathed.

The latest storm toppled a giant Manitoba Maple in the Lafrance front yard like a bowling pin, pulling a root clump about 10-feet across

"If the tank would have cracked open somehow, with all the debris flying around, there could have been a spark and an explosion," Andy said. To be on the safe side, a new tank will be delivered

UCPR paramedic recognized for championing

organ and tissue donation

Life Network (TGLN), Ontario's organ and tissue donation and transplantation agency, recognized Marc-André Périard, paramedic and deputy chief of the Prescott and Russell Emergency Services, for his outstanding efforts to integrate organ and tissue donation into quality endof-life care, and leading culture change within his organization.

The United Counties of Prescott and Russell (UCPR) is one of 29 partners to be awarded a TGLN Award in 2017 and 2018. Deputy chief Périard, who has worked as a paramedic for 28 years, received the TGLN's Tissue Champion Award.

"On behalf of the UCPR Council, we are very proud of Périard and our entire team of paramedics, for whom this award is a particularly special recognition," explained François St-Amour, UCPR warden. "We have an exceptional Emergency Services department and our partnership with the Trillium Gift of Life Network represents yet another example of the

> "We are proud to acknowledge the important contributions of our partners because the success of organ and tissue donation in Ontario relies on their hard work and dedication," stated Ronnie Gavsie, president and CEO of the TGLN. "This award reflects the continued commitment of the United Counties of Prescott and Russell to implement donation best practices and offer families the opportunity to make a lifesaving choice."

> Today, more than 1,500 people in Ontario are on the waitlist for a lifesaving organ transplant, and every three days someone will die without one. While the majority of Canadians support donation, only 33 per cent of Ontarians have formally registered their consent for organ and tissue donation.

A person's age or medical condition does not preclude someone from becoming a donor, and each potential donor is assessed at the time of death for medical suitability.

Building the future of Russell with Rick Renaud

Kalynn Sawyer Helmer

Record Staff

RUSSELL - Rick Renaud submitted his nomination papers for the office of municipal councillor in Russell township on July 27. Having lived in Russell for 20 years and been involved in the community during that time; this helped his decision to run. "I have always wanted to get into politics but needed to wait until my kids were old enough.' Renaud explained. Over the years Renaud has been involved in local initiatives. Included, is his involvement in organizing the Russell Ratepayer Association to impede a proposed council salary increase by 125 per cent, and the bilingual sign debate in the community.

Renaud said he feels the area is moving in the right direction overall and hopes to build on the opportunities that are available. Of those, he lists the new Amazon distribution centre development. "This announcement presents us with the opportunity to attract new businesses as well as new home buyers. Attracting new businesses is something that is very important to me, as it not only provides new tax dollars for the municipality but it also provides much needed employment opportunities for local youth,"

Other important topics for him include bettering the municipal infrastructure, and connecting more of the area residents to the municipal services available. Renaud cites the latest initiative to charge unconnected homes $78,400 to become connected, an initiative Renaud deems "completely unacceptable." He explained, "I personally think this is an absolute slap in the face of every rate payer in the village and I plan on making sure this initiatives gets reviewed and removed from the by-laws."

Renaud grew up listening to debates and discussions due to his mother who was an assistant to the Members of Parliament. From his own career, Renaud will draw on his experience as a management consultant and business owner working on the project in the federal, provincial and municipal

"I am proud of our little town and always promote it to people I know who are thinking of moving,' Renaud concluded. "I love healthy debate that produces results for the community. I'm not someone who can be influenced easily and have a firm grasp culture and heritage deserve to be celebrated and highlighted, ten Prescott and Russell organizations have joined forces to create Culture Month. This new initiative, inspired by Culture Days and the upcoming election season, strives to transform September into a symbol of the cultural wealth our region has to offer.

The theme for this inaugural Culture Month, I Vote Art, Culture and Heritage, is a call to action, ALFRED - Because art, not only for candidates, but for citizens, cultural and community-based organizations, and businesses to make art, culture and heritage an integral part of each platform by way of discussion and concerted efforts to raise awareness.

> It is very important, with the upcoming elections, to consider art, culture and heritage as economic and societal vehicles, fundamental to the prosperity of our region. Furthermore, Culture Month is to become a symbol of the cultural richness of a region that is starting to fully cultivate its potential, said Shanna Steals, Conseil des Arts, Prescott Russell Arts' (CAPRAC) Council's executive director and spokesperson of the group.

The group regards the many and various activities being held in September as fundamental to the advocacy campaign I Vote Art, Culture and Heritage. We invite you to follow all Culture Month developments at caprac.ca as soon as Sept. 1.

Chicken Fried revs up the country tunes on Sunday little bit of rock 'n roll, and a whole lotta fun pretty well sums up Ottawa country band, Chicken Fried. Formerly a seasoned, gigging rock act, several band members decided they wanted to stir things up and explore their country roots. They weren't sure what they were getting themselves into, but now a few years and numerous gigs later, they have created an entertaining show with a set list that will have audiences tappin' their toes as they offer up country and rock classics - both old and new!

In the band is Andy MacEwan on lead vocals, Greg Madore on bass guitar and backup vocals, Jason Waldorf on drums and backup vocals and Marty Vallieres on lead guitar and backup vocals.

MacEwan has been playing since he was 14 years old and is influenced by Matchbox 20, Sebastian Bach and Journey. On the set list, MacEwan's favourite song to perform is I Got a Feeling by Tim Hicks.

Madore has been playing for over 30 years and is inspired by John Paul Jones, RUSSELL - A little bit of country, a Flea and Hugh McDonald. His favourite on the set list is Listen to the Music by The Doobie Brothers.

> Waldorf has also been playing for over 30 years. He recalls the first song he ever learned was Too Young to Fall in Love by Mötley Crüe, a good choice because of the "straight forward beat." As for his favourite song to play, well it's more like favourite parts in a number of songs. "The guitar solo in Mona Lisa, the three part harmonies in Some Beach, the bridge in I'll be there for you, drums in Riverbank... how do you choose? I guess the most fun songs to play are the ones that get everyone up on the dance floor having a good time. So, Shook Me All Night Long, is usually a guaranteed dance song. You can't beat that type of energy!" he said.

> Vallieres started his musical venture at the age of eight. His influences are Eric Clapton, Van Hale, Brad Paisley and many more. With such iconic guitar players to draw inspiration from, Vallieres said his favourite song to play is The Mona Lisa by Brad Paisley.

The fun tunes and dancing shoes will come out to the Russell Fair on Sun., Sept. 9 from noon to 6 p.m. as Chicken Fried will cut loose and entertain audiences throughout the afternoon.

Fall Cutting Horse Competition will let the reins loose

RUSSELL - A cutting horse is an athletic and willing animal possessing an innate "cow sense" and ability to respond quickly and turn sharply, trained to keep a cow from returning to the herd. In this event, the horse and rider select and separate a cow out of a small group. When the cow tries to return to its herd, the rider loosens the reins and leaves it entirely to the horse to keep the cow separated.

The sport originates back to the American West. Herds that roamed large parcels of land would be rounded up and when one was in need of medical attention or branding, the horse and rider would need to separate the cow from the herd. Horses with an exemplary cow sense are trained for the sport and are required to handle the cattle for a two and a half minute performance or "run". During this time the horse is judged on their athleticism, style and confidence.

In order to handle the cattle and keep it away from its herd, the horse must use sharp and agile turns to They maintain a head-tohead stance, containing the animal. This is all done with instinct and proper training as the rider does not hold the reins, leaving the horse to perform the task alone.

Visitors at the Russell Fair will be in for an equine treat as the Fall Cutting Horse Competition will be performing in the horse ring on Sat., Sept. 8 at 11 a.m. and Sun., Sept. 9 at 9 a.m.

For those new to the cutting horse sport, listen out for some terminology from the judges. Some Wikipedia include:

Blow up: When a horse or cow panics.

Cheat: A horse that looks for an easy way out of working correctly.

Collected: A horse that is balanced under the rider so that it can quickly respond to the moves of a cow.

Cut for shape: When a rider selects a cow on the edge of the herd rather than riding through the herd and driving a cow out.

Drop on a Crouching posture of the horse when a cow has been rider drops his rein hand on the horse's neck.

Heading a cow: Occurs when a rider places a horse in front of a cow in order to mirror the cow's moves. common words cited on cut and separated and the stop the cow or to force it to change directions.

> Sweep: The horse sits back on its rear end and moves its front end, front legs extended, with a cow.

1Flip to entertain and awe at Russell Fair

RUSSELL - Founded in 1990, Milord Entertainment has 20 years of experience in the field of acrobatic shows. Members of the team are multi-disciplined, enthusiastic, and highly professional. They also enjoy meeting guests between each show. The troop is led by Yves Milord, who has been performing for over 30 years and is well known by his colleagues as well as his clients all over the world. This is how it all began...

1978 - The early days

Yves jumps on a trampoline for the very first time, and less than three years later in 1981, he participates at the World Games where he wins the gold medal in the trampoline event. That same year, he starts his career as a professional high diver for an American company, working around the world while continuing his education to obtain a masters in physical education.

1985 - Flash and Crash

Members of the trampoline duo "Flash and Crash" for four years, they have immediate and international success. They participate in numerous half-time presentations for the NBA, perform with the legendary Kurt Thomas in "Gymnastics goes Hollywood" and tour with the Shrine Circus as well as the Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey Circus. Flash and Crash also headline for six months at the "Circus Circus" Hotel Casino in Reno, Nevada. Their international notoriety gives them the honour of being invited to numerous American and Canadian television variety shows.

1990 - Milord Entertainment

Yves returns to Quebec and creates Milord Entertainment, an enterprise specializing in the production of acrobatic shows, such as high diving, trampoline, aerial bungee, and many more. His success continues and numerous renowned organizations are proud to call upon Yves for his services. Just looking at some of the comments made by his clients...they will convince you that Milord Entertainment is the right choice for Russell Fair. Visitors will be amazed and in awe by the quality of the acrobatic shows.

Recently

Yves Milord, president of Milord Entertainment, has worked with Cirque Du Soleil and is collaborating with Dragone Entertainment as a consultant as well as an acrobatic coach for the production "City of Dreams", which will be presented in Macau, China in June 2010. For over a decade, Yves has been in charge of the Canadian team for the Acapulco cliff diving championship in Mexico.

At the fair

i-Flip is the ultimate aerial show. This quadruple based structure, with all its accessories, was the result of intensive creative research. It places, once again, Milord Entertainment the leader in producing Acrobatic Thrill Shows!

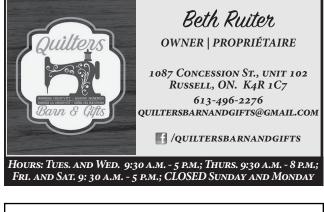

This incredible 25 minute show contains: aerial bungee, tramp-wall, sphere, power track and more. To conclude this spectacular show, a 60 foot death-defying high fall into a stuntman's airbag.

The aerial show will run multiple times throughout the fair days, at 7 p.m. on Thurs., Sept. 6, 2 p.m., 5 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Fri., Sept. 7, 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. on Sat., Sept. 8 and 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Sun., Sept. 9. All shows will be at the North Ball Diamond.

Get ready to giggle with The Cowguys

RUSSELL - Brian Wilson and Nick Miller from The Cowguys will be performing at the Russell Fair this year and will bring the fun to the kids' tent.

With over 25 years experience in front of an audience, Bri The Cowguy delivers hilarious, fast paced live shows. With each performance, the audience is treated to amazing circus style stunts, yo-yo tricks, audience participation and major, all blended with comedy that ranges from sarcastic to silly.

Brian Wilson has trained with instructors from Ringling Brothers Clown College, university instructors and other performers. He brings his training to each performance.

Bri The Cowguy performs over 200 shows per year at various festivals, corporate, school and special events. He also runs Orbital Talent, a specialty variety arts talent agency based in Ottawa.

Nick Miller's foolishness, although 100 per cent authentic, took years to perfect into the award-winning tomfoolery seen today. A graduate of Brock University's theatre and drama program, Nick has worked and taken courses alongside and from some of Canada's top physical theatre artists.

Nick is also a teacher at the Ottawa School of Speech and Drama and he regularly instructs workshops in theatre, circus arts and improv.

His shows are all about the audience involvement; including family friendly comedy, theatre clowning, juggling, diabolo and a hint of magic. Nick's shows are packed with audience participation and crowds of all ages love it.

Nick will be performing on Sat., Sept. 8 at noon and 3 p.m. On Sun., Sept. 9, it will be Brian's turn to entertain with shows at 11:15 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Feel the power

RUSSELL-The Russell Fair will rev up their engines on Thurs., Sept 6, and attempt to drive their trucks down the runway at the annual Fair Truck Pull. The kicker, would be that there will be a weight attached and the further and faster you drive the weight will move forward causing more resistance as the weight shifts closer to the track.

The friction between the rig and the ground causes the truck to bog down until it can't pull any further. There will be different classes involved and the higher the class the heavier the weight will be.

The classes are 4WD - 1/2 ton, 3/4 ton, gas engine, 3/4 ton diesel engine, 8,200 lb., diesel engine and 8,500 lb. diesel engine. The rules shall be: general rules and regulations of the Russell Agricultural Society's Truck Pull Committee apply. Entry fee is $20 per truck per class. There must be a minimum of three trucks per class, and one step up in classes is allowed with second entry fee. Only drivers are allowed in the truck during the pull. All trucks are pre-inspected and must be factory stock completely. Class 3 hitch or equivalent required; no less than 36" from centre of axle, no higher than 21" from ground. Consumption of alcohol during the pull will be grounds for automatic disqualification. Any trucks experiencing oil spillage or losing truck parts during the pull will be disqualified. No loose objects permitted in the truck box. The truck pull committee reserves the right to choose any truck to serve as a test puller and finally, drivers can register online at: 2018 Truck Pull farmers will love the tractor and garden tractor pull as they can display some of their toys in a test of power and bragging rights. The registration and sign in will be starting at 9 a.m and the pull will start at noon on Sun.. Sept. 9.

Tractors will pull a similar or same weight as in the truck pull, and the further it is pulled the more resistance there will be. The participant that pulls the furthest distance will win the competition.

There will be a tractor pull featuring 10 classes with prize money as follows: first place - $25, second place - $15 and third will receive $10.

The competition will be open to farm tractors only and the entry fee will be $10 per tractor per class. The classes are: antique models (pre 1950) up to 4,200 lb., farm stock up to 4,200 lb., antique models (pre 1950) up to 5,200 lb.,

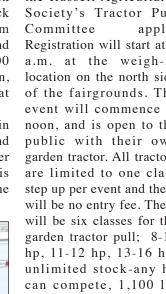

farm stock up to 5,200 lb., antique models (pre 1950) up to 7,200 lb., farm stock up to 7,200 lb., farm stock up to 9,200 lb., farm stock up to 11,200 lb., farm stock up to 13,200 lb. and farm stock up to 15,200 lb. For more information. contact Brad Johnson at (613) 295-2771.

Kids will be allowed in the garden tractor pull and will have a much smaller sled but the objective is still the same; pulling the weight the furthest.

For the garden tractor pull the rules are: general rules and regulations of the Russell Agricultural Society's Tractor Pull Committee apply. Registration will start at 9 a.m. at the weigh-in event will commence at public with their own garden tractor. All tractors will be no entry fee. There will be six classes for the garden tractor pull; 8-10 hp, 11-12 hp, 13-16 hp, unlimited stock-any hp can compete, 1,100 lb. modifieds and 1,300 lb. modifieds. For further information call Chris Griffith at (613) 223-5350 or Wayne Riddell at (613) 850-8159.

The prize money will be $50 per each class. The events are sanctioned by the Good Time Pullers and there will be a waver form
